The right design trend can turn a standard promotional item into a gift people actually want to keep. The following pages showcase this year's top design trends to help elevate your gifting strategy. From rich jewel tones and metallic accents to sustainable materials and minimalist branding, these styles are shaping what recipients want to see under the tree. The pages ahead break down each trend and offer practical ideas for weaving them into your holiday programs – whether that means a curated gift set, a branded stocking stuffer, or a statement piece that anchors a larger package. Use these as a starting point to build gifts that feel current, thoughtful, and true to your brand.

Woodland Whimsy & Botanicals

Woodland Whimsy & Botanicals brings the quiet magic of a winter forest into corporate gifting. Rooted in an earthy, grounded palette of soft taupes, warm ivories, muted olives, and deep chestnuts, the collection trades traditional bright reds for something more sophisticated. This trend utilizes playful nods to the forest: whimsical fox, owl, and deer motifs, charming mushroom accents symbolizing good fortune, and rich botanical textures like preserved eucalyptus, pine, and magnolia leaves that lend an organic, foraged-in-the-woods feel. The result is a cozy, storybook aesthetic that feels equally at home on a client gift box, a holiday party favor, or a branded ornament.

Nostalgic Vintage

Sometimes the best way forward is a look back, and the Nostalgic Vintage trend is proof — trading sleek minimalism for warm, retro maximalism. Deep reds, forest greens, and gold foil set the palette, while hand-drawn storybook illustrations of Santas, reindeer, and snowflakes bring a charming, childhood-holiday feel to every surface. It's a trend largely driven by Gen Z's appetite for reconnecting with the decorations of their youth, and it translates beautifully to corporate gifting — giving branded swag a warm, storybook charm that feels personal and memorable.

Velvet Royale

This year, bring Old-World opulence to promotional gifting with Velvet Royale — a design trend that transforms everyday swag into statement pieces worthy of a winter ballroom. Think deep rich burgundy warmed by champagne gold and antique bronze accents, for a finish that feels rich, regal, and unmistakably premium. Applied to corporate gifting, Velvet Royale elevates your branded items from forgettable to unforgettable, giving clients and employees a gift that feels less like swag and more like an heirloom.

Celestial Glamour

For clients and teams who appreciate a little magic, Celestial Glamour brings cosmic elegance to your promotional swag lineup. This trend pairs moody midnight palettes – navy, indigo, and deep sapphire – with shimmering gold and silver accents, evoking a starlit sky dressed up for a night out. Constellation patterns, crescent moons, and shooting stars replace traditional holiday motifs, giving your branded items a distinctive, elevated feel that stands out from the usual red-and-green lineup.
